

It's all about communication

LEGALS

Liability

We check and update the information on our webpages at regular intervals. Nevertheless, mistakes and oversights can never be fully excluded. We are thus unable to accept any liability or responsibility for the information provided. The same applies also to all other websites to which we refer. We also reserve the right to amend or supplement our information without prior notice.

Copyright

The contents and structure of our webpages are subject to copyright. All reproductions of information or data, require our prior express permission.

Confidentiality

All data and information we receive in response to these webpages will be treated with the utmost confidentiality. Data may be stored and processed electronically, for example to enable us to send you the requested brochures or product information. No data will be passed to third parties outside of LYCOM.